RESPONSE D

Applicants have the following response to the Office Action of June 28, 2004.

In the Office Action, the Examiner rejects Claims 1-42 under 35 USC §103(a) as being unpatentable over “admitted prior art” in combination with Kim et al. and Fujitsu (a new reference). This rejection is respectfully traversed.

Previously, Applicants explained why the claims were patentable over the combination of “admitted prior art” and Kim et al. In the Office Action, the Examiner has a section entitled “Response to Arguments.” In this section, the Examiner states that Applicants argue that the “admitted prior art” does not teach Cs ions. Applicants believe that there has been a miscommunication and wish to clarify their position. More specifically, it is Applicants’ position that the related art described in the specification (the so-called “admitted prior art” in the office
